Helping your Organization Find Top-Notch Professionals

No-cost, all-volunteer service for employers

Getting A Few Resumes These Days?!

We understand that it's not easy being in Human Resources lately and your time is valuable.

With resumes piling up everywhere, hundreds of voice mails and e-mails waiting to ambush you, do you find yourself saying, "Where do I start"? The answer is "Start with Collectivenet".

Collectivenet has the candidate you need, when you need them and with no fees attached.

Collectivenet "Local People for Local Organizations"

We're an all-volunteer group of top-notch local cross-functional professionals from a wide variety of industries. Chances are, your next brilliant hiring decision is already a Collectivenet member!

Personal Attention to Your Organization's Needs!

We will assign a representative from our organization who will update the group on your current job openings, procedures and needs. You will then be contacted by appropriately qualified candidates based on the information passed on by your representative. We also provide training to our members to clearly communicate their skills and requirements, both in writing and in person.

Time and Cost Savings

Your organization's time and costs involved in a search are greatly reduced due to our efforts. Come directly to us and we will advertise your requirements to our group for free. With our network of top professionals, we may have just the person you are seeking. Reach a higher number of qualified applicants than through the numerous job board postings and want ads - FOR FREE!

Introduce Your Organization or Industry!

We welcome your career or industry related presentations. Such presentations benefit our members and show your organization to be a progressive, caring and highly-desirable workplace. Reach out to Collectivenet today!
